I think that having a faith means:

- Keeps you in your religion so you're a better person
- Forgiving somebody
- To understand how other people think as a person with a religion
- Different person
- Better
- That different people believe in different things
- We're different in our own way
- We celebrate in different ways
- To be friends
- To learn different values (2)
- Gives something to you – be generous
- Your life and friends
- If somebody gets hurt you help them.
